

The Clerical Union of the Episcopal diocese passed resolutions protesting indignantly against "vulgarity, irreverence, sacrilege and profanity in the sacred name of religion."

But Sunday keeps right on drawing larger and larger crowds, collecting more and more money, and converting greater numbers of men, women and children.

SOME "SUNDAYISMS"

"If there is no hell to save men from, I will quit preaching."

"I believe the Bible to be the word of God from cover to cover."

"If I had $1,000,000 to give away tomorrow, I'd give a dollar to education and $999,999 to orthodox Christianity."

"The devil talks from the pulpit of an orthodox preacher."

"The society woman who has no religion has a bigger drag with the devil than the girl who is selling her virtue in the redlight district."

"The dance is simply a hugging match set to music."

"Cards and the dance are greater enemies of the church than the saloon."

"Some people say the world is growing better and better; the Bible says the world is growing worse and worse."

"People are going to hell so fast you can't see them for the dust."

"Does Miss De Gabb resemble her mother?" "Not so much at first sight; but when she begins to talk, there's a speaking likeness."—Judge.

"Your town boasts a band, does it not?" "Not exactly. We've got a band, but we don't boast of it. We just endure it."—Top-Notch.
